Obama picks six-term Sen. Biden as running mate

CHICAGO—BARACK OBAMA yesterday named veteran lawmaker Joseph Biden as his vice presidential running mate, adding foreign policy heft—but also a boom in support—to his ticket for November's election against Republican John McCain.

After hours of media leaks, the 47-year-old Democratic White House hopeful confirmed that he was picking the Delaware senator, 65, in an early-hour e-mail and text message sent out to millions of supporters.

"I've chosen Joe Biden to be my running mate," Obama said in the e-mail. "I'm excited."

THE GOVERNMENT and the secessionist Moro Islamic Liberation Front were yesterday talking of reviving the peace talks amid renewed fighting following the collapse of a proposed deal to create a Bangsamoro state—but from vastly different vantage points.

From the MILF camp in Sharif Kalamoon, Ebrahim Mansur, the MILF chief called for a cessation of the ongoing military operations against its military commanders in Mindanao so the government and the rebels can return to the negotiating table.

But he insisted that there would be no negotiation of the memorandum of agreement (MOA) on ancestral domain whose shorter signing reg-

MINO-BLOWING Inspiringly a beautiful image that came to mind while visiting the Luminous Cross Sanctuary in Agapang, Quezon. The artist Araceli Dams renders a more statuesque mother of God to stress Mary's constant concern for her children.

Artist moved to depict 'Luminous Mother of Light'

ARTIST ARACELI DAMS is not particularly religious. But a niece invited her to visit the construction site of the 120-foot-high prayer edifice, the Luminous Cross of Grace Sanctuary in Agapang, Quezon, on Sept. 13 last year.

Clanking to the apparatus level and looking at the bones on her face, she said the new in her mind the image of a beautiful lady with long hair rippling like soft black waves in the wind.

The experience moved her deeply and she prayed that her hands be made worthy of what she envisioned as a call for her to depict—through a painting—an image of the Luminous Mother.

To prepare for the task, Dams said she washed her way back through the sacraments of her Catholic faith.

RP eyeing $200-M loan for subsidies

By Dave C. Dumlao

THE PHILIPPINE GOVERNMENT PLANS TO tap up to $200 million in fresh lending from the World Bank to strengthen a conditional subsidy program which aims to temper the adverse effects of high fuel and food prices on the poor as efficiently as possible.

National Treasurer Roberto Barilay welcomed the news being sensationally called a "social protection loan" would support the government's short-term conditional cash transfer (CCT) scheme, an expanded version of previous anti-inflation-related loans.

The World Bank said it would support the CCT program during a special Philippine Development Forum held last week, backed the government's efforts to expand its direct cash subsidies to the poor while phasing out "less effective programs," such as food subsidies.

Under the implementation of a modern social protection system, the World Bank said, the goal is to give poor households and give them better ways to break out of poverty.

The said proposed financing program, which could range from $100 million to $200 million, would finance the project initiated by the National Economic Planning Secretary and Ministry of Social Welfare Development.

"The loan is still under discussion. This is one of the loans that we have included for 2008 (in program bank)," he said.

The proposed financing is similar to the $100-million commodity-based program (Kape, Bay, Luto sa Kalansaya) and $200-million Comprehensive and Integrated Livelihood of Social Services program, which the World Bank has implemented in 2008.

The additional lender has provided support to numerous countries in developing and implementing CCT programs throughout the world, from Latin America to North America, and from Africa to Asia.

CCT programs are "a new type of social assistance program that represents an innovative approach to the delivery of social services," according to the World Bank. These programs provide money to poor families "conditional upon investments in human capital," for example, sending their children to school.

"The cash transfer is aimed at providing short-term assistance to families when it is income poverty (which the conditionalities aim to promote longer-term human capital investments)," said a World Bank paper assessing the impact of past CCT programs.

9 more Pinoy seamen seized

NINE MORE PHILIPPINE SEAMEN HAVE BEEN deducted from a ship in the Gulf of Aden in Africa, bringing to 18 the number of Filipinos now in the hands of suspected Somali pirates, the Department of Foreign Affairs said yesterday.

Assistant Foreign Secretary Clara Catalan, speaking Wednesday in Manila, said the 18 Filipinos were taken from the 13-man crew of the Philippine-registered ship, the MSD-101, which was hijacked on Aug. 21.

Catalan said news of the kidnapping was relayed by the Philippine Embassy in London and the country's local maritime agency.

He said the DFA had increased the attention in London and Berlin in coordination with the ship owner, international maritime authorities and host governments to secure the safe and speedy release of all the Filipino seamen being held by suspected pirates.

Earlier, 18 Filipino seamen who were part of the 29-member crew of the pirate-riddled tanker, MSD-101, were released last week by the British Royal Navy, were released last week by the British Royal Navy.

Two days later, the chemical tanker MSD-101, registered in Panama and operated by Japan's Kuremaru Co., with 17 crew members, 36 of them Filipinos, was hijacked also in the Gulf of Aden. Cynthia D. Bichan

'Yes, we can,' say Pinoys in US in drive for Obama

Manila, Aug. 23 (AP) — Filipino-Americans in the United States are making a concerted effort to support Barack Obama's campaign for president. They are the first ever group of voters who have not only voted for the White House but also for the White House.

"We're proud to see this kind of energy and enthusiasm and commitment from our community," said the author of the book "Yes, we can," which is Obama's campaign slogan. "Yes, we can" is Obama's slogan.

The novel says this kind of energy and enthusiasm and commitment from our community, this is something that we have seen in the past. When the author of the book "Yes, we can," which is Obama's campaign slogan, said in an interview on the sidelines of the book-off party at the De La Salle University in Manila, he said that he was proud to see this kind of energy and enthusiasm and commitment from our community, this is something that we have seen in the past.

Symbol of inclusion

Obama, the son of a Kenyan father and a Kansas mother, is seen as a symbol of change in the country, and a symbol of inclusion for immigrants.

"He represents a big message, the values he's spreading, and the country are about inclusion and keeping every body in the fold," Obama said. "It's not about change, it's about change, the need of the country, recognizing that it's not just the American and the white who are welcomed."

Miriam bats for one time, the right time, for Pinoys

By Cynthia D. Bales

IT'S THE RIGHT TIME

Sen. Miriam Defensor-Santiago is pushing for the observance of a single national day in the country in a bid to synchronize the functions of government agencies.

Santiago has filed Senate Bill 2505, the proposed One Time Philippines Act, to establish a national time for the Philippines to follow.

The bill has proposed would ensure that all government agencies start and end their work on time.

"Discrepancies in time between government agencies has led to unnecessary friction brought about by the disparate interpretation of schedules and their observance," she said.

Under her proposal, all government offices, government-owned corporations and local governments will be compelled to observe and maintain a Philippine Standard Time (PST). The bill also encourages the private sector to follow suit.

Define time removes uncertainties

In defining time reference would remove uncertainties brought about by different interpretations of time, particularly among government offices," Santiago said.

Recently, Santiago managed to initiate new Senate rules providing alerts or late warnings, and providing them from delaying the passage of bills. The Senate also approved new Senate rules on Senate privilege.

Under her bill, it would be the job of the Philippine Atmospheric, Geophysical and Astronomical Services Administration (PAGASA) to establish the PST.

Pagasa, which is now known for tracking and forecasting typhoons, is designed by law to be the official time keeper of the country.

Pagasa to disseminate standard time

Presidential Decree 1149 or the "National Geographic, Geophysical and Astronomical Services Act of 1977" mandates Pagasa to disseminate the PST through its Time Service Unit (TSU).

Pagasa is responsible for the "establishment, maintenance and operation of the National Standard for the second of time."

Section 8 of the Philippine Standard Time Act, which defines the metric system in the country, states: "For the purpose of defining the value of the second the Philippine Atmospheric, Geophysical and Astronomical Services Administration shall establish and maintain the national standard for the second, which is the duration of the second."

Senators really want Trillanes in their midst

By Gil C. Cabanog Jr.

OPPOSITION SENATORS ARE HOPEFUL Sen. Juanito Trillanes IV join them in the Senate they have lost the Supreme Court they would be the desired right either

Senators Trillanes should be allowed to perform his duties as a senator even under the present. Barring Trillanes from attending sessions deprives [him] right to check the actions of the government and the Senate majority and [and] capacity to block senators prejudicial to national interests," the opposition senators said in a statement.

The senators are Senate Minority Leader Aquilino Pimentel Jr., Senate Aquilino II, Rodolfo Lujan, Danilo Lujan, Loren Legarda, Andy Medelgado and Mar Roxas II.

They filed on Wednesday an appeal to the Supreme Court which recently upheld a Majority Request filed earlier asking for Trillanes' position to be allowed to attend Senate sessions.

Villar's decision

While the current Senate majority was initially dominated by the opposition, Senate President Manuel Villar's decision to join forces with the administration block changed the dynamic of the chamber. Shortly after Congress opened in July 2007, the Senate issued a resolution upholding Trillanes' petition to be allowed to attend sessions and executive hearings or to be received 11 million votes in the May 2007 elections despite being in domestic on rebellion charges. Opposed to his return administration senators claim Trillanes had become a "house member" with the SC ruling. "Trillanes Trillanes is not yet convicted. Therefore, the presumption of innocence

An official from Pagasa said the agency issues the PST to electronic clocks, which are in internal reference frequency of atoms (or molecules) to ensure the passage of time. It is said to be more accurate than regular clock.

The TSC began as the Time Service Division in 1949. It changed its name with the reorganization of Pagasa in 1984. Aside from maintaining the standard time, the TSC disseminates the precise time and frequency via Internet and radio broadcast, among others. The TSC also gives out day information disseminated in the general public through its website.

Invitation from the City Mayor

Davao Foreword

On behalf of the 1.5 million multi-ethnic peoples of Davao City, it is my pleasure to invite you to join us in celebrating our world renowned Kadayawan Festival 2008 on August 18 to 24, 2008 in Davao City.

Davao has a lot to celebrate and to thank for this year. Despite the national and global crisis, Davao has managed to secure peace and continue to attract foreign investments. We have been ranked number one in peace and investment in Asia. Davao is the Philippines' safe haven for the security provided by the competent and efficient City Government.

We extend this warm and cordial invitation to all our friends and visitors to join us in celebrating our world renowned Kadayawan Festival 2008 on August 18 to 24, 2008 in Davao City. We are confident that this festival will be a great success and a great celebration for all of us.

The festival organizers have a vision for this year's festival that has been passed on to us by our predecessors - preserving, promoting, and celebrating our rich indigenous heritage, our culture, our traditions, and our way of life.

Come to Davao and experience this for yourself. We are ready for you.

Makati sanctuary now a pilgrim site for Catholics

By O'Yap

FILIPINO CATHOLICS WHO want to go on a spiritual journey need not fly thousands of kilometers to visit the Basilica of St. Paul Outside the Walls in Rome and other centers of the Christian faith. They don't even have to leave the metropolis.

Located in a quiet street corner in the middle of the Makati financial district is the sanctuary of St. Paul the Apostle, now officially a "pilgrim site" as declared by the Vatican.

"The sanctuary of St. Paul is now open to receive pilgrims," said Fr. GG Almazan, rector of St. Paul Sanctuary in Silang, Cavite province, and a member of the sanctuary inside the compound of St. Paul Shrine in Santa Rosa Village.

The relatively "young" sanctuary (less than 13 years old) was declared recently as one of two pilgrim sites in Metro Manila, the other being the Basilica of the Most Holy Jesus in San Antonio Village.

"The Vatican used a special indulgence to enable Catholics who visit two pilgrim sites in the archdiocese of Manila this year to mark the Year of Saint Paul," according to the Catholic Bishops Conference of the Philippines (CBCP) website.

From June 20 this year until June 20, 2006, the "Pauline year," Catholics can receive a plenary indulgence by making a pilgrimage to the Sanctuary of St. Paul the Apostle and the Basilica of St. Peter and Paul in Rome.

An indulgence is a "remission of the temporal punishment due to sin committed," according to the CBCP.

"Vatican don't have to give the Basilica of St. Paul in Rome to go on a pilgrimage now," Almazan said. "They can make their pilgrimage right here." Inside.

The Basilica of Saint Paul Outside the Walls is considered one of the four great ancient churches of Rome, which include St. Peter's Basilica.

The designation of the Sanctuary of St. Paul as a pilgrim site was announced in a letter made public during a Mass at the Most Holy Cathedral in Rome through a ceremony that officially opened the country's celebration of the Pauline year, the CBCP said.

The decree was signed by Francis Cardinal Tettamanzi, head of the Apostolic Penitentiary, a Vatican court dealing with indulgences and matters of confession, the CBCP said.

Now that the sanctuary is a pilgrim site, Almazan said he expects more visitors at the church, which can hold about 500 people at any given time.

Even now, the sanctuary is already attracting more people than usual. He expects more and more people to come here when they leave behind the pilgrim site designation, he said in a interview.

The church itself will begin to disseminate the declaration of the sanctuary as a pilgrim site to the public.

"We'll put up responses, posters here and there. Hopefully, more people will know about the church through word of mouth."

FR. GG Almazan, a secretary "regalis," said he expects more people to visit the church now that it has been declared one of two pilgrim sites in the archdiocese of Manila. The other is the Basilica of Saint Peter and Paul, also in Rome.

BEIJING—RYAN REXEL, FABRIGA STARTED OUT WITH THE least impressive routine of the night and settled for 28th place in a field of 30 at the end of the men's 10-meter platform diving qualification stage Friday at the Beijing Olympics here.

The 1.4m, 3, 130 lb Fabriga never made a significant mark on the water, barely lifting his feet off the diving board and earning a barely above average 10 points in his final round. The last night event a massive 100.95 behind top qualifier Zhou Jie of China.

China, the 20-year-old Sheng Liang took the top 10 into the semifinals of the 10-meter platform diving qualification stage Friday at the Beijing Olympics here. The 10-meter platform diving qualification stage Friday at the Beijing Olympics here.

Australia's Matthew Mitcham topped the second day and second of 20.28 points behind China, followed by Spain's David Carreras, the best performer in the last round, 20.05 off the board.

Fabriga's best effort in the final dive—a reverse 2 1/2 somersault in a pike position—drew a pair of 7.0 (three more judges) and earned him a 20.05 in a ranking for the round.

He was already not far behind the competition, though, to get himself into the top 10 and be moving just a whisker back. "Our boy was definitely not in the top 10 and he was down," said chief of mission and Beijing Pop Music

THE BIG CHOICE—open or not?

What you don't see on ESPN

Score tables look too easy. I thought that like I needed to see that before I did my thing. Luckily, there were two kinds of tables in the commentator's lounge.

There were three tables—one report and one scored. I told myself I didn't care how long it took, I would wait for the scored table.

There were two girls ahead of me in the queue. When the door to one of the report tables opened, we all looked at each other and shook our heads.

Look at it. I thought a girl from Hong Kong, a girl from the Philippines and a South American looking girl, looking over one table like report tables. It looked to me like a very strange situation.

A few minutes later, a beautiful report woman walked in, her body hair pulled high on top of her head, her white-skinned with many bracelets. She saw the open door leading to one of the report tables.

"Is this?" she asked me, her voice still high on air. I nodded and smiled. She walked in, looking to see if she could get in. In the meantime, high platform in the room.

Later on, I learned that the technicians were using Olympic cameras for Beijing. Not only were public technicians increased, 6,000 local maintenance staff were dispatched for treatment and emergency training. This is Olympic madness.

Olympic Event # 1: Trying to understand the four girls

Being four girls and not being in my first four girls was not a good experience. She said "ready things" when the most "thing you need" the game was information, writing me about in all eight months when I did not enter. And when her magazine talk was to having a lot of an all sleep on the bus, she looked into a very strange and very Chinese version of "You you sleeping, better sleep?"

This four girls was only slightly better—she said "I am sorry, I remember the first time." She said so in Vietnamese. She said to be in to ask questions because it was "better." She also made repeated claims of having to be held if we did not make it back to the meeting place on time.

Olympic Event # 2: Getting lucky

For the athletes, winning is the TOURIST T's watched the games and took quick shots of Beijing's history.

OLYMPIC looking

Olympics is the tough formula of winning, dedication and discipline. For reporters, Olympic things are chosen to do.

Which category? Two places looking like, meeting new Olympic look like, being around behind someone to tell him to block your view. The game being asked over on the day you're holding a ticket.

Which today? Opening like before watching the boxing match, getting to watch inside that fight between and between Williams, even if your ticket was the another member match.

Olympic Event # 3: Trying to catch a bird's eye view of the Bird's Nest

On Day Two, my first time I gave up my first time because we wanted to take good pictures of the Bird's Nest (the Beijing National Stadium). We headed the shuttle to the road and tried to think of which corner building we could possibly get a good view of the nest. The door was closed to everyone though. The heavy rain left us with no choice but to take pictures of the nest from inside the shuttle.

Olympic Event # 10: Buying Olympic merchandise

You can try to wait for that next morning. From if you ignored the birds coming within their 2008 Olympic medal that had appeared in your hand gift shop, you would be especially loved by Olympic goods as you made your way around Beijing.

Inside department stores, at the local markets, at the shops—you cannot escape. You will soon find yourself queuing up to buy pins, stuffed mascots, bags, mobile phone cases and more.

Olympic Event # 11: Pin-collecting

Just like other events that bring people from different countries to prefer, pin-collecting was very common to the Olympics. One little boy went to collect on getting pins from other countries that his friends at reading could only be called harassment. He was the same little boy who tried to make an deal with his friend and by choosing for Russia and Ukraine during the closing ceremony.

Olympic Event # 12: The race against Tsai Hsien-shan

We were taking the same flight from Beijing to Korea as the Hsien-shan Olympic team. They were such a big group that if you got caught by that there is a time, you would be there before and over. And in the meantime, there were a lot of other people. My companions and I went the Hsien-shan Olympic team. We were there at the check-in counters, at immigration, at security check, even at the customs. We were there at the airport.

We were, but then went to the

DR. LUCRECE King as a young woman

Tina King's death marks the passing of an era

THE DEATH LAST WEEK OF DR. LUCRECE King marked the passing of an era. As one who the culture and the arts were a solid force in the nation's life, and its leaders were heartbroken because they also would the national of power.

Dr. King was the founder of the Cultural Center of the Philippines, where CCP was, initially, in the '70s an object of controversy for the country and the world, because it was Manila's most "progressive" and, gradually, as the center of culture and arts, it was copied by every Asian neighbor.

For all the praise she received, she did not give rise for music and the arts she would discuss. Dr. King never lost touch with her fellow human beings, the one called "Tina" because she was a warm, caring, and caring.

For decades she presided over a most fractious and belligerent culture commission, a task it was not meant to do, without making her own, or even its, decisions. From the influence groups, Nation of Artist, National Film, and the Tina King Play! As Juan Landa, former president who had known Tina King since 1975, said, "Tina became a place in her heart for everyone."

Tina King never married, perhaps that was why people called her "the friend of Mommy." So she was most maternal and caring.

In her meditations when she was many things to many people. She has touched all kinds of people, simple and mighty, from high art to elsewhere. In the '70s we saw a side of her people hardly knew—the man in a hoodie, dark, and the kind of her artistic collection, behind Tina King was a great artist.

The culture community is left an orphan by her death.

Inevitable to intrigue

She taught us to view scholarship lightly — to focus well, engaging all one's senses while keeping an open heart. As an artist, scholar, promoter, scholar, she was ever learned and contradictory. Because in poetry, music she was single-minded and uncompromising of our cultural institutions. We have much to learn that will be lost by the death of her eye.

Phelps' Olympic glory trains spotlight on ADD

WHAT MAKES A CHAMPION?

The last words heard are played on the TV set as Michael Phelps' stadium world records. I was in awe of this 23-year-old swimmer.

My admiration was heightened when I discovered Phelps had been diagnosed with Attention Deficit Disorder (ADD) at a young child growing up in Baltimore, Maryland. Though at what time seems for every person who has a child diagnosed with ADD, Phelps has become not only one of the greatest athletes of the 21st century but also a proven boy for the endless possibilities for kids or adults with ADD.

ADD coach, Margaret, the professional for parents of children with ADD, says behind almost every ADD success story is a devoted parent who is attentive and resourceful, seeing strength where others see only weakness. They never tire to find creative ways to help their child.

Just really to give up.

Delores Phelps, Michael's mother, has single-parented for the last 14 years. She has been divorced from the father's father, Frank, since Michael was 9, the same year he was diagnosed with ADD.

When told by Michael's doctor that he had ADD, the wife had heard before but she was filled with great resolve to help him. With more than two decades of teaching experience in middle school, she saw, "Wherever a teacher would say, 'Michael can't do this,' I'd counter with, 'Well, what are you doing to help him?'"

The ADD coach adds says, "Noting that Michael's attention waned during math, she found a tutor and encouraged him to use word problems related to Michael's interests. 'Then long would it take to swim 500 meters if you could swim meters per second?'"

"The same article quoted Mike Johnson, author of The ADHD Defiant Athlete, "While some athletes require intense concentration, that's not always the case with children. Everything happens instantaneously. You're in there for 30 minutes, you've got five people trying to take your head off, their referees, four teachers. You need to take in everything that's going on all at once. That's how people with ADD go through life. It's a matter of how they thrive in this field."

Delores, now principal of Whitaker Middle School in Baltimore, Maryland, says she applies what she has learned, noting Michael as an example to all her students, whether or not they have ADD.

She says, "All kids can fail us at times. But if you work with them, nine times out of 10, they'll make you proud."

A different kind of Rush

She sees the stars as a commercial jet pilot. Brooke looks in a Taekwondo match, manages an all-male band, and still finds time to let her hair down and have some fun. Other people may have difficulty keeping up with this kind of life, but not Catherine Marie "Brooke" Castillo.

As the country's first female commercial jet captain, Capt. Brooke feels proud to have made a difference in a field where there are very few women. Growing up, Capt. Brooke found herself excelling in various sports from volleyball, basketball, bowling to taekwondo. And what totally began as hobbies brought her towards greater heights—becoming a member of the National Team and competing in international events under the Philippine flag.

Beyond the world of sports, she also displayed a natural inclination for music. She trained in classical piano at the age of 7 and even though she could no longer do her original because of her busy schedule, Capt. Brooke still goes to manage First Circle, a band that's currently making waves in the music scene. She admits being more content working behind the scenes with people who share her passion for music. "It's enough for me to help others pursue the same dreams as I have. It's like fulfilling my own dream already," Capt. Brooke declares.

With a string of achievements under her name, one cannot help but wonder how she balances her time. "It's all about paying attention to what's urgent," declares Capt. Brooke. "Of course, I always take time out to have fun. I usually go to the beach or to the spa and I never forget to drink Rush Fitness Water because it keeps me going each day."

More importantly, Brooke considers God as her constant motivator. The faith that doing her very best is all that counts is her way of showing her gratitude for all the blessings she receives. As her way of giving back to society, she plans to put up her own foundation to help underprivileged children have access to education. Says Capt. Brooke, "I want to be remembered not for what I have done but for what I have been to people."

Be Fit to Achieve

There are numerous ways for active people to maximize their potential in order to achieve their goals. Capt. Brooke, for one, proves that determination, hard work, and passion for excellence are some of the key factors. For anyone, just to mention the need to be physically fit is almost noted and body to function 100% that day to day.

Brooke shows that energy, body fluids and electrolytes are depleted as we go about our daily activities. When we get dehydrated, our sensory level tends to wear, giving way to the onset of stress. Since the body is 70% water, and our muscles are about 80% water, it makes sense that we perform and think more clearly when we are properly hydrated. Rush Fitness Water is infused with just the right amount of electrolytes and minerals our body needs in carrying everyday activities. Since it keeps energy and hydration in perfect balance all day, Rush helps you stay in top physical and mental condition every day.

Rush Fitness Water is for the Active Achiever, as it houses the energy needed to live the kind of dynamic lifestyle that can take you towards your life's goals.

 SM's 50th birthday

Talking shop with the Veloso-Santillan family

JUST AS MEN ROME OVER sports and cars, shopping is an activity that Veloso-Santillan family members enjoy. Whether it's shopping with mom for your first pair of shoes, sharing style tips with friends, or simply dressing yourself from everyday necessities (think retail therapy), many women have happy shopping memories.

In honor of its 50th anniversary, SM has launched its Generations campaign featuring people who have made SM part of their lives. SM, after all, has been people and their stories since its inception in 1961.

Here, SM's Editor, Johanna Veloso, her daughter Cathy Santillan, and great-granddaughter Kala share with us their most cherished memories of shopping at SM through the years.

Where your earliest recollection of shopping at SM?

Ms. Veloso: It must have been during the '60s when I used to bring Kala for my childhood SM Cubao. We were based in the previous home, and I remember having to go to Manila to buy their school clothes.

Cathy: I remember going to Manila with my mom to buy my school clothes at SM, which had the most styles at the time. I remember buying my first pair of slippers at SM, and then I got into the process of buying my first pair of shoes.

Kala: My mom would take me along when she went to SM to buy her school clothes. I was a little older when she would take me to SM Cubao when she would go to buy her school clothes. While waiting for her, I would look at the clothes that she was buying, and she would buy for me.

SM's Editor, Cathy and Ms. Veloso with Ms. Kala Santillan at her 7th birthday celebration in January 2007

Cathy, your experience with SM goes beyond shopping. Would you like to tell us about it?

Cathy: I came to Manila to join the National High School Competition in 1970. Before I was a student, I was a member of the SM. I was sponsored by some of the members of SM, and when I started working for SM, I was how I started working for SM.

When I got married and was stationed in Manila, I was offered to work at the SM Building. I was offered to work at the SM Building. I was offered to work at the SM Building. I was offered to work at the SM Building.

Ms. Veloso: I was offered to work at the SM Building. I was offered to work at the SM Building. I was offered to work at the SM Building. I was offered to work at the SM Building.

"It's a good idea to go with your parents." We really got a lot of tips from her. When I was a kid, it was the SM, people would say, "Oh, you're so well-dressed."

Kala: My mom would take me along when she went to SM to buy her school clothes. I was a little older when she would take me to SM Cubao when she would go to buy her school clothes.

When I was a kid, I remember I was working for my first SM. I was working for my first SM. I was working for my first SM.

What do you like best about shopping at SM? What are your favorite stores?

Ms. Veloso: I'm most fond of SM's shopping at SM. I was offered to work at the SM Building. I was offered to work at the SM Building. I was offered to work at the SM Building.

Top 10 music in the US; Jonas feat

WEEKLY CHARTS FOR the best-selling records in the US as they appear in next week's issue of Entertainment Weekly. (Compiled from a national sample of sales reports collected, compiled and provided by SoundScan; radio play, and television radio by Broadcast Data Systems.) 1) "Disturbia," Rihanna; 2) "Crash," David Archuleta; 3) "Pursue," Chely Wright; 4) "I Kissed A Girl," Katy Perry; 5) "We Are the World," Various Artists; 6) "Paper Planes," M.I.A.; 7) "Dengies," Rascal Flatt & Scruggs; 8) "Take A Bow," Ed Sheeran; 9) "Clocks," No. 10; 10) "Change," Taylor Swift.

Rare feat

Meanwhile, "A Little Bit Longer," the third album from the Jonas Brothers, sold more than 525,000 copies in debut on No. 1 in the Billboard Top 200 album chart, according to figures released by Nielsen SoundScan on Wednesday. The siblings—Kevin, 20, Joe, 18, Nick, 15—have become one of pop's biggest sensations over the past year, and "A Little Bit Longer" represents their biggest success yet. The group, once an indie, were recently featured on the cover of Rolling Stone magazine.

47 "Clocks" David Archuleta is in second slot.
